POLICE SEARCH FOR 11 PERSONS

They Make Up the City's Missing List.

DISAPPEARANCES REPORTED

EVEN MEN AND FOUR WOMEN ARE INCLUDED.

Anxious Families and Dependent Ones Request the Police to Look for Loved Ones and Furnish Necessary Descriptions.

Eleven persons have been reported to the police as missing, and anxious families have requested that search be made for them.

Walter Hartwig, an employee of the L. M. Rumsey Manufacturing Co., living at 135 Montgomery street, disappeared Tuesday morning, and his family has not heard from him since.

Several weeks ago Mr. Hartwig informed his family that he had been offered a position in the Texas oil fields that would pay much better than the one he had at that time.
His family thinks he has gone to accept it.

A sister of Hartwig's states that she went down to the offices of the L. M. Rumsey Manufacturing Co. to inquire about him.
There she was informed that Monday afternoon he drew all the pay due him and told the foreman that he would not return to work.

Hartwig has a wife and five children.
One of the latter was born Tuesday.

Charles Van Allen, a photographer, rooming at 1407 Olive street, is searching for his wife, Mrs. Mattie Van Allen, otherwise known as Mattie Morrison.

The missing woman is a palmist and clairvoyant. She and her husband have been in St. Louis since June 14.

Last Monday night they quarreled. Tuesday morning he went to work as usual, but when he returned home his wife and all her belongings were gone. She gave no explanation and he has received no trace of her movements since. If he does not leave town he will return to work on Sunday, he says, he will go to Buffalo, where an aunt of his wife resides.

Mr. Mattie Morrison, 16 years old, tall blonde, with a fine figure. Her husband says she dresses very stylishly.

His name is Mattie Morrison, N. Y.

Her maiden name was Mattie Morrison.

Werner Hirsch, 27 years old, who arrived in St. Louis four weeks ago from Seattle, Washington, has disappeared from home at 264 Ohio avenue. He had $500 in his possession when he disappeared.

On June 14 Fredrick Altemann,

74 years old, disappeared from his home at 22 Soulard street. He made his home with his son and was very feeble. He has gray hair, stooped and walks supported by a heavy stick.

Mrs. Mary Zedek of 1038 Morrison avenue has asked the police to aid in her search for her husband, Paul Zedek, who has not been heard from since last Tuesday.

Robert Focsen, 14 years old, living with his parents at 420 Swan avenue, is reported missing since last Saturday.

Mrs. Frank A. Altemann, 62, of 22 Soulard street, took her son, Frank Forest Altemann, who was studying law in this city. The father died May 23.

Frankie Fitzpatrick, 16 years old, tall for her age, fair and slender, is reported missing from her home at 2177 Chouteau avenue.

She left home on Saturday of last week, and her parents have been unable to find her.

JAMES E. YEATMAN VERY ILL

Venerable Citizen of St. Louis Suffering From a Severe and Sudden Attack of Uremia.

James E. Yeatman, for many years one of the leading citizens of St. Louis, is seriously ill at his home, 3317 Washington boulevard. Physicians have pronounced his trouble uremia. Mr. Yeatman is 84 years old and grave fears are expressed for his life.

Long before the civil war he was prominent business and political figure in St. Louis and is thought to be the original of one of the characters in Winslow Homer's novel, "The Crisis."

He founded the Merchants' Library and was the first president of the Mercantile Library.

He has always been one of the most prominent members of the bar association.

He helped to build the first railroad into St. Louis.

Until recently Mr. Yeatman was in good health although somewhat feeble.

He went out every day and his vitality was unusual. The attack of uremia came suddenly. His daughter, Mrs. Alfred Carr, wife of his son, accompanied him constantly.

PROF. HERRON IS DROPPED.

GRINNELL, June 22.—The Congregational Church of Grinnell at a business meeting, by a unanimous vote, decided to drop the name of Prof. George D. Herron from its rolls. The action was taken after the long series of procedures that had been necessary, according to Congregational ecclesiastical customs, to put Prof. Herron outside of the church.

NEW DISEASE OF HORSES.

NEW YORK, June 22.—A new disease similar to grip is killing horses in this city.

The disease was first discovered last Saturday, and from the reports submitted by the leading veterinary surgeons July 10,000 horses are today suffering from it.

Fires were stationed at the scenes Saturday day to prevent the resumption of work.

JURORS SAY THEY DID NOT CON-SIDER MRS. BARKER'S TESTIMONY.

The Wife, Broken in Spirit and Weeping, Withdraw Before the Verdict Was Announced.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Efforts have been made to interview the jurors who listened to the evidence in the trial of Thomas G. Barker for assaulting Rev. John Keller of Arlington, N. J., on Feb. 3. Juror Robert McAndrews, in discussing the matter, said:

"We followed the court's instructions.
We did not consider the witness's statement at all. It cut no figure either way, the other the other. I read Mrs. Barker's statement, and I guess the other didn't. For my reasons for convicting Barker, read the evidence and the charge. I consider it is no one's business whether I believe Mrs. Barker's statement or not. It had nothing to do with the trial."

Foreman G. J. Gopall said:

"That statement is to come before the court in the contempt proceedings. I don't want to mix up in it."

The jury, however, refused to discuss the matter, when the judge returned from the jury room.

Miss Beaman was removed to her home, where a surgeon extracted the bullet which had passed through her body. The bullet was found in the brain. Dr. James G. Creeley of Third street and Division avenue, one of the operators, tells the story of it to the Post.

"We girls struck from 20 cents an hour for 10 hours, from 10 to 12 cents an hour for training, 15 cents an hour for meal.

By the latter schedule we could not make 40 cents a day, whereas under the old plan we made 50 cents a day. No one of us had given in, and we were surprised when our employer said he wanted to decrease our pay to 20 cents an hour, and when we demanded full pay, he refused.

We walked out in a body, and the company agreed to give us 25 cents an hour.

When the company refused to do this, we walked out again and announced that they found the defendant guilty as charged. Only two girls were left.

Barker, when he heard the foreman's verdict, flushed, but betrayed no other sign of emotion. Keller was not in court and the girls were not allowed to speak to him.

Miss Beaman, who had been overhauled by the special officers and denied him to interfere further.

Fifty-eight of the girls are still out and continue to remain until the old schedule of compensation shall have been restored. Their duty was to trim meat for packing, for the purpose of manufacturing sausage.

The latest report from Miss Beaman was that she was in a critical condition.

ENGINES FOUGHT FOR SUPREMACY

Two Moguls Conquered Their Small Opponent.

BUT THEY WRECKED TRACK

REMARKABLE BATTLE OCCURRED AT MIDNIGHT ON WHARF.

It Followed Effort of Iron Mountain to Parallel Wiggins Ferry Tracks With Switch Without the City's Permit.

Three locomotives fought for supremacy on the wharf at the foot of Miller street early Saturday morning, when the Iron Mountain Railway attempted to lay a switch by the side of the tracks owned by the Wiggins Ferry Co. and the St. Louis Transfer Railway Co.

The smaller locomotive, belonging to the ferry company, was broken on the track by the two big engines, but in so doing they defeated their own ends, for the track was so blocked by the wreck that further progress with the construction train was impossible.

A riot call was turned in while the tugs were at the wharf, and 100 men in command of officers from the Central,
Third and Second districts, hurried to the scene.

The work was immediately stopped and Marshall R. Hansen, civil engineer, in the employment of St. Louis Transfer & Southern Railway, who was directing the work, was locked up at the Soulard street police station on a charge of obstructing the streets.

In order to lay the track, the Iron Mountain imported a construction train with 475 locomotives.

At midnight the train was turned in while the tugs were at the wharf, and 100 men in command of officers from the Central,
Third and Second districts, hurried to the

Harper, though by no means forced to retire, left the game Friday at Philadelphia after the first inning. He was not batted out of the box, and it is probably because of his illness that he was allowed to go to the bench.

Only one real hit was made on his delivery, though four are tallied by the official scorer. The two runs by the Phils were suited from two bunts which were luckily enough placed to roll safe, a base on balls, a scratch hit and a single by Wolverton. After that Harper settled down and with none out and the bases full, retired the side.

Harper is probably more under the weather than was at first supposed. He is besides, on his record of the last trip, not up to his form away from home.

The usual blow-up talk will not go the rounds in connection with him, because no one believes with him. Harper has made an impression locally that will be hard to alter, and one not game lost by him, nor two, nor three, will suffice to make him believe he has done anything but one of the best in the business.

Friday's game was finished out for St. Louis by virtue of having hit fairly well, and though he allowed eight base hits, kept them all well started that the Phils could not run them. The more talkative. The most encouraging feature of his pitching was the fact that he allowed but one base on balls. Harper has even this year been out of control. What he gets that he will be earning brackets right along.

Friday it appeared that his time has come, and though he lost the game, it was because of the handicap he started with and partly because the team behind him could not hit.

The Cardinals' big three batting combination were hit twice, hitting the same Donoghue, getting two hits apiece. The remaining four hits were well spread apart, and Orth, who was puzzling the visitors, had only one hit. Harper is little, and is purely a matter of appearance. One game can alter the whole complexion of the team and when he comes through with the New Yorks, they are apt to be something higher than their present niche. That may be.

Brooklyn and Boston mounted over St. Louis by virtue of having soft snaps to contend against. Boston was not bothered in the race in which the Chicago while Brooklyn made Cincinnati wish it had never had a baseball team.

The most remarkable feature resulting from the outcome of yesterday's game is the way the pennant race looks Saturday morning. The Cardinals have moved up from third to fifth place, though no body fears they will remain there if Harper wins one round to them again. Third place, however, seems little, and is purely a matter of appearance. One game can alter the whole complexion of the team and when he comes through with the New Yorks, they are apt to be something higher than their present niche. That may be.

One game can alter the whole complexion of the team and when he comes through with the New Yorks, they are apt to be something higher than their present niche. That may be.

Brooklyn and Boston mounted over St. Louis by virtue of having soft snaps to contend against. Boston was not bothered in the race in which the Chicago while Brooklyn made Cincinnati wish it had never had a baseball team.

The Cardinals' big three batting combination were hit twice, hitting the same Donoghue, getting two hits apiece. The remaining four hits were well spread apart, and Orth, who was puzzling the visitors, had

WEALTH NOT A SUFFICIENT FOUNDATION.

President Schurman of Cornell told the students of that university on commencement day that America was sadly in need of something besides commerce and industry.

How remarkable.

"The United States," said Prof. Schurman, "have outstripped all other nations in commerce and industry, but if you exclude inventions the country lacks productive power.
In her whole history she has never had a Homer or Shakespeare or a Darwin. True power lies in the intellectual rather than in the commercial. The power of Jerusalem, Athens and Florence lives today and will continue to live for all time.
The United States will never be a real world power if wealth alone is depended upon."

It is like a breath of pure air after suffocation in an atmosphere heavy with odors of luxury.

Wealth alone is not to be depended upon as the foundation of a world power.

Let us be proud of our great wealth, and the commerce which breeds it. But wealth is mere matter after all—a collection of things—which may be detrimental to real progress if not wisely used and, above all, rated at its true value as a national asset.

Missouri is the apple of Uncle Sam's eye.

"I'M FROM MISSOURI."

The origin of the celebrated phrase: "I'm from Missouri; you'll have to show me," is being pushed back year by year, through the interesting inquiry being conducted by Post-Dispatch readers in its letter column. It has now reached the period of the civil war, in which it is claimed to have been used by a Federal captain in reply to a demand to surrender.

It cannot be denied that this phrase is one of the most serviceable in the English language. The Federal captain mentioned, for instance, used it as a "def." In other cases it has conveyed a request for information; in others, it implies a meek innocence, not exactly amounting to ignorance, or of the rude ways of the world, as to which the somewhat unsophisticated Westerner desires enlightenment; in still others, it is a caution, and may be voiced by less fortunate persons from the outside world. "He's from Missouri; you'll have to show him;" that is, he can't easily be taken in.

It would take some space to amplify the various shades of meaning this remarkable phrase may be made to carry. Being of such importance to her citizens, might it not be well for the State's educators to embody its study in the curriculum of the schools? All Missourians should know how, when and where to make its use most effective. They should line up to its most effective uses.

The Louisiana Purchase, not the Louisiana Conquest, is to be celebrated in 1903.

TYRANNY IN HUNGARY.

They have up-to-date science in Hungary—the underground trolley, the telephonic newspaper and other things of like character. But they also have tyranny. The schoolgirls are forbidden to wear corsets.

The latest news is that the Minister for Public Instruction has issued an energetic order that corsets must not be worn in the public or private schools of Hungary, at least by the girls; the teachers are not included in the order. Perhaps they are supposed to be "New Women."

What American schoolgirl would consent to be subjected to this ridiculous interference with personal liberty? There are American schoolgirls of corset-wearing age who don't wear these mysteries of feminine apparel. But they would if they wanted to. And no Minister of Public Instruction could prevent them.

Hungary is going too far. The next public order there may be that women shall wear divided skirts or bloomers. And it is a male Minister of Public Instruction who is thus interfering with women's clothing. The idea!

The report that 6000 farmer boys of Cape Colony have joined the Dutch republican army may give the American horse and mule market another stimulus.

OVERPRODUCTION OF MEN.

The woman who does not marry has no right to complain because she is unattractive. It is her own fault.

If every woman of marriageable age should marry there would still be men on earth left without a partner. A few number of men exceeds that of women by 15,000,000.

Europe as a whole contains more women than men, but that is the only exception, and even on that continent there are countries in which men outnumber the women. In Italy, Greece, Roumania, Bulgaria and Servia men have a majority of 500,000. Elsewhere there is a slight preponderance of women. On the whole the difference is insignificant, but slightly in favor of the weaker sex. But on every other continent, where census figures tell their story, there is more than one Jack for every Jill.

It won't last forever.

Munting and pastoral people, and those in the primitive

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

If the average man's head had half as much in it as his wife imagines it has it would burst open every time he started to read the newspaper.

It would be a good thing for the world if every woman had to stand on her head to see a picture of the way the mosquito does it.

Women want it.

It is a pity this view of the case wasn't considered before the allies looted the palaces and desecrated the sacred places of the Chinese.

It may have been necessary to awaken China. The best interests of civilization may demand the services of the Chinese people in the world's work.

If the awakening had been accomplished in a civilized fashion, China would, in all probability, have accepted the invitation in good part and become the friend and ally of the western nations.

But look and desecration are not easy to forget. Vengeance may linger in the minds of the people in spite of the policy of their rulers.

M. Bloch does not exaggerate. He frankly and bluntly states a real peril to Christendom.

It is about time.

A LIMITED MARKET

INDUSTRIAL LIST ACTIVE, BUT THE RANGE WAS NARROW.

MANHATTAN A FEATURE

Fear of the Bank Statement Caused Light Speculation in New York Stocks and Bonds.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Prices at the opening showed little change from yesterday's market figures, but changes were in the nature of improvements. International stocks, as on yesterday, failed to get up to a parity with the London level, the improvement in St. Paul here reaching only 5%, compared with 1% abroad. Business was small and confined chiefly to the tractions, Pacifics and south-westerns.

The market continued to sag from apprehension of the bank statement. Declines ran from 1 to 2 points, but the range was narrow. The decline was evidently by the bears, as the unfavorable statement was followed by better prices on coverings. The market was quiet, with the Pacific International, Pacific and Wabash preferred, which affected the market, showing a slight gain. Central, common and preferred, lost point each on the opening, but Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie preferred, gained.
